

I have benefited greatly by XM Radio. I have a daily commute to New York (75 mile round trip). I have never been able to receive a clear AM signal on my radio. The radio has been changed by my dealer, filters have been installed and still the reception is horrible or non-existent. In the canyons of New York City AM is not an option. I depend on the commuter information which XM provides. I was a huge fan of XM radio before the weather and traffic, but now I swear by it. I operate a fleet of 160 Executive chauffeur driven sedans in the New York Metropolitan area. Some of my chauffeurs have XM radio. Some have it but prefer AM traffic reports when they can receive them. It is important that you allow the continued choice. Let us decide which medium we wish to listen to, or in some cases, the only medium we can listen to given the reception issues with AM. Don't dictate what is best for the consumer. Let us decide. Thank you.
